A Welcome Accession.

The independent democracy—the men who believe that democracy means something else than a ready and constant obedience to the Slave power—have borne the disgrace which the leaders whom they have trusted have put upon them, till they can bear it no longer; and they have resolved to stop. Thousands on thousands of these men, who are neither office-seekers nor office-holders—who call no man master—have resolved to come out and make their strength felt for good and on the right side.

It is well known that the Wisconsin of this city, has chafed for a long time in the party traces, and many a rough knock and coarse gibe have the party presses given it, because its traces were not always drawn tight. The time has now come, with the issue and the candidates before the people, when each man must choose his place; and the Wisconsin boldly hoists the flag of FREMONT, and declares its intention to give him a hearty support.

The article in which this determination is expressed, appears in last evening's paper, and is manly and straightforward, and full of cogent reasoning. We do not desire to mar its proportions by mutilation, and therefore give it entire:

The Spirit of Freedom at Work.

We devote all of our available space to-day to the proceedings of the Philadelphia Convention, desiring to place the whole record in our Weekly edition to-day. In order to do this we have been obliged to leave out much of the speeches by which the Convention was enlivened from time to time. The delegates who have returned speak in the highest terms of the excellent spirit throughout the Convention. But the proceedings tell their own story, and we commend them to the careful attention of our readers. Upon such a platform as that erected at Philadelphia, and with such men for standard-bearers, the whole people ought to, and we believe will unite; and such a union must ensure a victory.

Everywhere throughout the country the nominations are well received, and the determination expressed to throw aside all other issues, and rally with true patriotism around the flag of Freedom, while our opponents stand with the shadow of a Slavery flag hanging over them.

Preparations are being made for a grand Ratification Meeting this week, when the people of our city will have an opportunity to express their endorsement of the platform and of the candidates; and they will do it WITH A WILL!

tions, and propose to give the whole of it to our readers to-morrow, using only to-day the last two sentences of the article, as indicating its earnest spirit. Mr. CRAMER says:

We trust that we shall not sever from old friends, for there are tens of thousands of democrats who gave their votes for Franklin Pierce, who will now give their votes for John C. Fremont, as the best and truest democrat, in life, character and principles, of all the candidates presented for the suffrages of the American people. May God sustain the Right, will be the wish of that vast body of voters in our country, who ask no office—but justly demand good government, administered in accordance with the early principles of the fathers of our Republic, and for the securing of such government, the true man should be willing to give his treasure, his health, and his life—if need be.

GERMAN FREMONT MEETING IN CINCINNATI.—The Free State Germans of Cincinnati, had a tremendous meeting on Saturday night, at the Assembly Rooms, Chas. Reemlin, Judge Stallo, and others, made speeches, which were enthusiastically applauded. The Daily Republicaner has hoisted the name of Fremont. The Daily Volks Blatt also warmly supports the platform and ticket. The Hockwaechter and the Turnzeitung, weekly German papers, with a very large circulation in the Western States, also support the ticket.

The Young Men Rising!

We publish a call to-day for a gathering of the young men of our city, to meet on Saturday evening next, at Concert Hall, to express their sentiments on the subjects of the outrages upon Kansas, and upon Mr. Sumner. The call has received the signatures of nearly 250 of the young men of our city, who mean that FREE SPEECH shall triumph in this land if their efforts avail.

INFORMATION WANTED.—We copy the following from the Portage City Independent. Mr. PETTIBONE, who has so mysteriously disappeared, has been for a long time one of the leading citizens of that town, and is a man very much respected by his fellow-citizens. We trust no ill has befallen him:

Milo H. Pettibone, Merchant, of Portage City, Wis., left his home on May 22d, to go to Milwaukee and return again immediately. A letter was received from him, dated Chicago, May 23d, strongly indicating aberration of mind, since which no trace whatever can be found of him.—His friends fear total or partial insanity—self destruction, or some other calamity; and offer a reward of $500 for any information that may lead to his discovery. Mr. Pettibone is about five feet ten inches in height, well proportioned, had a high forehead and a large Roman nose, dark hair, with one or two locks over the forehead quite grey; walked with a rapid step, and had on when he left a light grey cassimere suit, a diamond breast-pin, gold studs and gold sleeve buttons. He had also a gold watch and gold vest chain, and about $3,000 in money.

Papers at the South and West are requested to insert this notice. Address the undersigned.

C. J. PETTIBONE, Portage City, Wis.

June 19, 1856.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.—The person who sent us a copy of the Madison Argus, with an article marked around, is answered emphatically, NO!

PROCEEDINGS OF THE Philadelphia Convention.

SECOND DAY.

PHILADELPHIA, Wednesday, 1 o'clock.

At 10½ o'clock the Convention re-assembled, the President, Col. LANE, of Indiana, in the chair. The proceedings were opened with a prayer by the Rev. ANSON ROOD. The reading of the journal of the Convention was dispensed with.

The first business in order was the nomination of the National Executive Committee.

The following persons were nominated:

Maine—Joseph Bartlett.
New Hampshire—Geo. G. Fogg.
Vermont—Lawrence Brainerd.
Massachusetts—Hon. J. Z. Goodrich.
Rhode Island—Wm. W. Chase.
Connecticut—Gideon Wells.
New York—Hon. E. D. Morgan.
New Jersey—Jas. T. Sherman.
Pennsylvania—Thomas Williams.
Delaware—E. D. Williams.
Maryland—Geo. Harris.
Virginia—George Rye.
Kentucky—Wm. S. Bailey.
Ohio—Thomas Spooner.
Indiana.—James Ritchie.
Illinois—Hon. Norman B. Judd.
Michigan—Zachariah Taylor.
Wisconsin—John H. Tweedy.
Iowa—Andrew J. Stevens.
California—Cornelius Cole.
District Columbia—Lewis Clephane.
Kansas—Judge H. F. Conway.
Minnesota—Mar. S. Wilkinson.
Nebraska—H. Shields.

The Hon. DAVID WILMOT, of Pennsylvania, Chairman of the Committee on Platform, announced that the Committee was ready to report.

The announcement was received with loud cheers.

Mr. WILMOT then submitted the following report:

THE PLATFORM.

(We omit the Platform, having already published it in the Daily. It will be found in its place in the Weekly.)

The separate resolutions were read in perfect silence, and each was received with hearty applause. That following the resolution condemning polygamy and Slavery was tremendous.

The last clause of the last resolution read, in its original form, "We oppose all proscriptive legislation "affecting their security."

(Mr. STEVENS, of Pa. suggested whether the concluding paragraph of the last resolution might not be left out to advantage, as it might, while really unexceptionable, be tortured into an attack upon "the largest party in Pennsylvania.")

A motion to strike out was received with applause.

An amendment to recommit was made.

Mr. Spooner, of Ohio, opposed both, saying that "no true American, breathing the free air of this country, coming from the blood that first trod Plymouth Rock, emanating from New England—no true son of America can object to the resolution there presented."

Mr. Gazzam, of Pennsylvania, said: I claim the right as a delegate from this State, and not only from that portion of it which this resolution is intended to benefit, but from that portion which it is supposed to be obnoxious to; and in the name of the American party I protest against the recommittal of this resolution for any such purpose [Loud cheers.]

The resolution to recommit was withdrawn amid loud cheers.

Gov. Bingham, of Michigan, stepped forward on the platform and said: I propose to make such a modification of this resolution [Loud cheers, "No, no," Hear him, hear him"]—I propose simply to change a word, and I trust then the resolution will satisfy every delegate. I do it at the suggestion of the Chairman of the committee. [Good,' good," cheers.] I propose to strike out the word "proscriptive" and the word "inspiring," so that the resolution shall be read in this way: [Gov. Bingham read the resolution as it stands in the series. "Good, good," "That's it," "Question, question," "That's it"].

Another gentleman from Pennsylvania had a single word to say upon this question, which had created an unnecessary amount of excitement here. He was sure that the meaning of his colleague must have been misunderstood. There was no party in the United States that placed itself against liberty of conscience and perfect security to the life and property of every citizen [Applause]. He simply meant to call the attention of the President to the language which might have been made use of to the detriment of the cause that we are here to advocate. Now, Sir, the amendment which was made by the gentleman from Michigan removes all objection [Loud cheers].

The amendment was adopted, with a dozen dissenting voices, and the resolutions were carried with tremendous cheers.

A DELEGATE from New York offered the following resolution:

Resolved—That the Convention proceed immediately to take an informal vote for the candidate for President of the United States to be supported by the Republican party of the United States [Loud cheers].

(GEN. WEBB of New York, opposed the resolution, and hoped that the Convention would not act hastily. He expressed his desire for harmonious action, and his determination to support poit heartily whoever was nominated, but suggested whether free conference among delegates might not lead to a wiser result than an immediate ballot.

Gov. KENT, of Maine, favored the suggestion, and offered the following resolution:

Resolved—That a Committee of three from each State, and one from each Territory be appointed by the several State and Territorial delegations, for the purpose of meeting in general conference for the interchange of opinion, this afternoon, and that the balloting for candidates for President and Vice-President be postponed until Thursday morning.

The resolution was received with marks of approval and disapprobation, in the midst of which Judge HOADLEY of Cincinnati got the floor. He said:

My friends here, on my right, are ready to go, not into an informal ballot, but into a formal ballot [Cheers.] Sir, I tell you the moment that passes the harmony of the meeting is disturbed [Cheers]; but I tell you that the sooner this ballot is taken, the better it is for the peace of these present [Cheers]. The course which has been taken by some delegations—honestly, doubtless, but unadvisedly—has produced a feeling deep and earnest, and which, I fear, will produce fatal results [No, no, no]. No—I'll take that back [Cheers]. But I mean to say that they will cause our fires to burn coldly, instead of ardently and warmly as they otherwise would [A Voice: Take that back, too]. I move to amend by striking out the word "informal."

Several delegates spoke, pro and con, among them CHARLES F. ADAMS, of MASS., who was in favor of immediate action, believing that delegates fresh from the people were thus more likely to declare their wishes, than if they were subjected to a "manipulating process" here.

A motion to adjourn was then put and lost.

Lt. Gov. Patterson of New York, said:—I rise here to say to you that there is a man, alluded to yesterday, whose nomination and whose election would be more acceptable to the people I represent than any other living man. I allude to Wm. H. Seward [Protracted cheers.] Sir, in the intercourse we of the State of New York have had, the question came up, what name should be presented to this Convention as the favorite of the State? And with one accord, with a single solitary exception, W. H. Seward was declared to be the choice of the delegation. Sir, nothing would give me and the State of New York greater pleasure than to do justice to her honored son. He has done good and great service to his State while he was the Executive [Cheers.] In 1844 he was the candidate of his political party for Senator of the United States, and he received in the caucus that nominated him 88 out of the 100 votes given, and was declared to be the nominee of the party, and was elected. How well he has discharged his duties there it is unnecessary for me to speak [loud cheers] further than that he has done it most fearlessly and faithfully, and I stand here to bear witness that he has at this day the strength of New York. In 1855, without his solicitation or the solicitation of anybody in his behalf, he was with very great unanimity re-elected to the position of United States Senator [Cheers]. He was my first choice; but I desire to say here, that whoever may be the nominee of this Convention, Mr. Seward and his friends will be among the foremost to support that nomination [Cheers]. My object in rising was to perform a painful duty—to withdraw the name of William H. Seward from the canvass. [Cries of No! no!] I take the responsibility of doing it by request of his friends, and if gentlemen then vote for William H. Seward they will only do what I would like to do myself were it not that the delegation had requested me to withdraw his name [Loud cheers].

The proposition for a conference was then withdrawn by the mover.

The question on going into an informal ballot was then put to vote and carried by a large majority [Cheers].

Judge Spaulding of Ohio next obtained the floor. He said he had been requested to withdraw from the present controversy the name of a man whom he had intimately known for forty years, than whom a better and a purer man did not live [Cheers]. He would, however, first read the letter he had received from the gentleman himself.

Judge Spaulding then read the subjoined letter from Judge M'LEAN:

(The letters from Judge MCLEAN, and from Senator CHASE, authorizing their friends to withdraw their names, if it would conduce to a harmonious result, will be given in our next.) After the reading of Mr. CHASE'S letter, the Tribune's report proceeds:

Mr. Mitchell said that the friends of Mr. Chase had authorized him to withdraw his name from this Convention [Loud cheers.]

Thaddeus Stevens of Penn. then took the stand. He said that he saw perfectly well what was the current of this Convention, and he did not rise to resist it. He hoped that they would take care that it did not roll so fast as to sweep away friends as well as foes. After what has taken place, he would be very sorry to see Judge M'Lean's put forward to be voted for by a few.—Pennsylvania had looked to no other man. In view of these facts, he would like to have an opportunity for the Pennsylvania delegation to consult.

Mr. Grinnell of New York, moved an adjournment to 5 o'clock, which was carried.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

The convention re-assembled at 5 p. m., and being called to order, the President announced that the Chairman of the Republican National Committee had a communication to present to the Convention.

The Hon. E. D. Morgan then presented a communication from the committee appointed by the North American convention, stating that in pursuance of a resolution in that convention they had been appointed to confer with the Republican Convention on the subject, with a view to some concerted action of the part of both conventions.

Mr. Littlejohn of New York moved to refer the communication to a committee to consist of one from each State. He said the North American convention were actuated by the same feelings that moved this convention, and it was but right that the great party represented by the North American convention should have one candidate on the ticket nominated here.

Mr. Giddings of Ohio was pained to be compelled to oppose the motion. This convention had invited all to come in who were opposed to the present administration. If a committee were appointed to communicate with Americans, he should want a committee appointed to communicate with foreign-born citizens. He could not believe the chairman of the National Committee was authorized to open any such communication. He stood there to speak for German citizens as well as for American born citizens. He moved to lay the resolution on the table.

Carried by an immense majority, amid intense excitement.

Mr. Spaulding of Ohio withdraw his former withdrawal of Judge M'Lean's name.

The President appointed as Tellers Messrs. E. D. Morgan of New York, and Orthe of Indiana.

The Convention then proceeded to take the first informal ballot, with the following result:

Maine,	12	21
N. Hampshire,	15	—
Vermont,	15	—
Massachusetts,	39	—

*New York also gave two votes for Sumner and one for Seward.

When Virginia was called, the Delegates declined to cast any vote. Delegates from Michigan, before declaring her vote, said her first choice had been Seward, but finding the sense of the Convention so unmistakably for Fremont, she decided to cast her vote for him.

Wisconsin delegates said the first choice of Wisconsin had been Seward, her second Chase, and her third choice Sumner, but she would vote for Fremont.

The District of Columbia refused to vote.

The announcement of the ballot was received with deafening cheers.

A motion to declare the nomination unanimous was met by calls for a formal ballot.

The delegation from Kentucky, through their chairman, said they had been in hopes of being able to cast their votes for Chase. His withdrawal prevented their intended action, and they should return home disappointed, but were unwilling to separate without expressing their entire concurrence in the choice of the Convention.

Mr. Webb, of New York, said he came forward to redeem the pledge made in the morning.—The proposition for a ballot was merely made as a formality. He felt he had discharged his duty to his constituents, and he would accord to every other man that he had done the same. That being the case, their next duty was to make unanimous the act determined upon by the Convention. As the intentions of delegates were honest, so should their action be unanimous. He therefore entreated the Convention to give Jon C. Fremont an undivided vote.

David Wilmot came forward amid great cheering, and said he trusted the Convention would present to the public the greatest show of unanimity possible. It was not necessary to go into a formal ballot [Cries of "Yes, Yes" "We want to stand right on the record"].

Mr. Wilmot, resuming—Well, if that was their object he would not make any objection.

Numerous calls being made for Mr. Giddings, that gentleman came forward and said he had moved a short time since to lay on the table a communication addressed to that Convention, by a Committee from the North American Convention. He meant by that action to signify that the Republican party should make no bargain with any other party. They held out an invitation to all to unite with them in their deliberations, and he made the motion feeling that it was due to themselves; but friends say he was wrong, and that he ought to move a reconsideration [Cries of "No, No," "Yes, Yes," with considerable confusion]. He would yield to his friends, and take upon himself the responsibility of moving a reconsideration of the vote laying the communication on the table.

Carried by an immense majority, amid intense excitement.

Mr. Spaulding of Ohio withdraw his former withdrawal of Judge M'Lean's name.

MESSRS. LITTLEJOHN of N. Y., and CLEVELAND of Conn., spoke in favor of receiving the communication and giving it a reference, inasmuch as the Convention at New York had been called by men who had separated from their party because of their greater love of Freedom than of party; and they had been invited to act with this Convention. MESSRS. HOAR of Mass., and SHERWOOD of N. Y., hoped that the motion would prevail.)

Gov. Ritner joined in this hope. He had failed, he said, to get his wishes in this Convention, but was willing now to put his shoulder to the wheel and give Fremont all his support and influence [Cheers].

The motion to reconsider then prevailed by a large majority, and the communication was referred to the Committee on the Platform amid much applause.

Loud calls were then made for a formal ballot, which was taken, and resulted in the entire vote being cast for Fremont, except 23 from Pennsylvania and 14 from Ohio for McLean, and 1 from Pennsylvania for Seward.

Virginia again declined voting, because she was not allowed to cast 45 votes in consequence of her representation not being full.

Michigan when called said she would give Fremont eighteen votes, and her electoral vote next November.

The nomination was then made unanimous amid a scene of the most intense excitement, every person rising and waving their hats and handkerchiefs.

At the instant the result was declared, an American flag, bearing Fremont's name, was raised from the platform, and the broad pennant, inscribed John C. Fremont for President, was drawn across the platform in front of the Speaker's desk, reaching from end to end of the hall.

Banners were also displayed from the windows to notify outsiders, and the shouts within the hall were caught up, and echoed by the crowd in the streets.

As soon as the wild enthusiasm of the Convention could be somewhat subdued, Mr. Allison of Pennsylvania made some remarks indicative of an intention to support the nomination with earnestness.

The Convention then adjourned until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning.

THIRD AND LAST DAY.

WM. L. DAYTON FOR VICE-PRESIDENT.

PHILADELPHIA, June 19—10 A. M.

The convention re-assembled—the President, Col. Lane of Indiana in the chair. The proceedings were opened by a prayer by the Rev. Mr. Levy.

Mr. Leigh of New Jersey offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That a National Convention of young men in favor of free speech, free soil, free Kansas and Fremont for President, be held during the month of September, in the city of New York, under the call of the National Republican Convention.

Mr. Whelpley of New Jersey said that he arose to nominate a man for the Vice-Presidency who in the House of Representatives steadfastly opposed the passage of the Compromise measures in 1850, and was stricken down for that act and for the advocacy of the very principles which we advocate here. [Cheers.] He referred to William L. Dayton of New Jersey. [Loud cheers.]

Mr. Fisher of Penn. said he took the liberty to nominate a man whose name would be a tower of strength in Pennsylvania—David Wilmot of Penn.

Mr. Allison of Pa., nominated Abram Lincoln of Illinois.

Mr. Jay of New Jersey said he was an Old Line Democrat, and had always been until that party had sunk that name underneath the feet of the slave power. [Cheers]. He should have voted for Franklin Pierce if he had had a vote, and as it was he worked for him, and he was ashamed of it. As they had nominated an old Line Democrat for President, Democrat as he (Mr. Jay) was, he thought they should now vote for an Old Line Whig for Vice-President. He therefore seconded the nomination of Wm. L. Dayton of New Jersey (cheers,) who had been sacrificed by the "Hemlock" Democracy of New Jersey for his opposition to the Fugitive Slave bill. With the name of Wm. L. Dayton attached to that of John C. Fremont, success was certain [Cheers.]

The Convention then went into an informal ballot for Vice-President, with the following result:

Wilmot 43, Lincoln 110, Dayton 259, Ford 7, Sumner 35, C. M. Clay 4, J. Collamer 15, Giddings 2, W. Johnston 2, Banks 46, Pennington 1, Wilson 5, King 9, Carey 8, Pomeroy 8.

Mr. Wilmot of Pa., Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, then presented the following report and resolution:

The Committee to which was referred the communication from the Convention assembled in New York, have given to that communication respectful and deliberate consideration.

Your Committee have had a free and full conference with the Committee appointed by that Convention. The Committee came to no arrangement in the conclusion.

The call for the Convention was addressed to all political parties, and consistently with this call the communication under consideration originated. Your Committee deem that it ought to be respectfully responded to, and would recommend that a Committee be appointed to address all the parties of the country with a view to elucidate the principles of acting, and to conciliate them to the great object to which the labors of this Convention have been devoted.

Resolved, That a Committee of three be appointed by the Chair to prepare such address.

Mr. Elliott of Massachusetts, withdrew the names of Sumner, Banks, and Wilson, from the canvass. He said Massachusetts wanted them where they are.

It was then moved and carried that the Convention go into a formal ballot for Vice-President.

Thaddeus Stevens of Pensylvania arose and said, Pennsylvania has had had some consultation, and has not been able to agree that it is proper for her to present any name to this Convention. If she were to present any name it would be David Wilmot's. But Mr. Wilmot has requested me, in this doubt of Pennsylvania as to the propriety of presenting any name, to withdraw his name from the canvass, as he did not desire to be voted for at all.

Mr. Root of Ohio gained the ear of the President. He said: Sir, this morning I had a conversation with Gov. Ford of Ohio. Says he, "The boys may be troubling you with my name. I want to fight, but don't let them buckle a knapsack on me. I can fight better light." We can't spare Tom Ford; we want him for home consumption. [That's all I've got to say.] [Loud cheers.]

The formal ballot was then taken. All the votes were given for WILLIAM L. DAYTON, except eight from Connecticut, four for Banks and four for Lincoln; nineteen from New York, fourteen for Lincoln, three for Sumner, one for King and one for Ford. And four from Pennsylvania, two for Lincoln, one for John Allison and one for Dr. Elder.

Judge Palmer, of Ill., withdrew the name of Mr. Lincoln, and then every vote was cast for MR. DAYTON.

A resolution appointing a Committee of nine to wait on the candidates and inform them of their nomination, was passed. The following named gentlemen were appointed;

J. M. Ashley, of Ohio.
Anthony J. Bleecker, of New York.
Hon. J. C. Hornblower, of New Jersey.
Judge E. R. Hoar, of Massachusetts.
Hon. Thaddeus Stevens, Pennsylvania.
Gov. K. S. Bingham, of Michigan.
John A. Wells, of California.
Governor Cleveland, of Connecticut.
Cyrus Aldrich, of Illinois.
And on motion Col. Lane, President of the Convention, was added to the Committee.

The chairman stated that a German newspaper which had been Democratic until their action of yesterday, had hoisted the flag of Fremont. The current was flowing in the right direction.—[Cheers.]

Mr. Schneider, the editor of a German paper in Chicago, said that there was no population to be found in this Union which was more devoted to the cause of Freedom than the German population of the Prairie State [Applause]. The German delegates endorsed with heart and soul the nominations and the platform of that Convention [Cheers]. They intend to go back to the West and vote for it, and bring every German possible to vote for their party [Loud cheers]. He had no doubt but that John C. Fremont would receive a majority of the German votes in this Union [Applause]. Already a majority of the German Press of the Union, amounting to nearly one hundred had declared in favor of Fremont, and they hoped for success in electing the glorious ticket. The Germans had the greatest interest in this contest. It was a contest mainly between Slave Labor and Free Labor [Cheers.] The majority of Germans were laborers and if a German voted against Liberty he voted against his own interests [Cheers], He was sure the Prairie State would give 20,000 majority for Freedom [Loud cheers].

Mr. Wells, of California, answered for that State, that if it could be carried for any human being, it could for FREMONT, as he was her foster father, her discoverer, her conqueror from the foe, and her first representative in the Senate—[Cheers].

Dr. James Grimm, editor of the Belleville Zeitung, spoke a few words in very broken English. He said that the Germans who came here to find free speech, free labor and free soil, have now found a party with which they could unite. [Loud cheers]. So long as Germans were treated as freemen, they would go with freemen for liberty to the death.

A Delegate from Michigan read this dispatch from Detroit: "One hundred guns are now being fired by the sailors of Detroit for John C. Fremont. Fremont thunder has crossed Lake Erie. The channel of the St. Clair Flats is now open." [Loud cheers].

Mr VAN DYKE answered for New Jersey.

He said that his State had been for McLean, but said he, "I remember very well that the venerable gentleman who now sits upon this platform (Chief Justice Hornblower), and who was the cause of that admirable correspondence placed before the public between himself and Judge McLean, when called upon to tell us what to do next, with his eye flashing fire, with his silvery locks bristling with light, he said, "I am a young American—(loud and enthusiastic cheers)—and if I cannot get the man whom I wish, I will go for the man whose star comes from the West, and is now rising in beauty over this mighty nation." (Cheers.)

He said in regard to Mr. Dayton: William L. Dayton is accomplished man in every sense of the word. He is a scholar, a gentleman, a learned lawyer, a distinguished Judge upon the Bench. I know him all the way through—[Cheers]. I know him intimately, and I know that in everything which can be desired at the present time he is the man demanded by the exigencies of the time for Vice-President and presiding officer of the Senate of the United States [Cheers.] He is also sound on the question which is now agitating the country [Loud Cheers]. I speak, gentlemen, what I know upon the subject [Cheers]. It so happened, fortunately or unfortunately, that I was a member of Congress when the Compromise Measures of 1850 were passed. I had frequent consultations with Mr. Dayton about those measures, and I know that he opposed them all the way through [cheers]—not all of them, it is true. He did not oppose the admission of California, nor did he oppose the abolition of the slave traffic in the District of Columbia, which he always voted to stop [cheers]. But he did not vote for the Fugitive Slave Law [loud cheers], which was passed. These, with other matters, were those which were at issue when the North was sold to the South as it had been before. In all these three measures he voted with his own State, which, with one exception, opposed with all their energy the Fugitive Slave Law [Cheers]. When he returned to his own State, he met a tumult, that seemed to rise all over the country, that these Compromise measures should be abided by, and some of the people of his own State were inclined to think that he had misrepresented them, and the result was that he was thrown into the shade, simply because he was six years in advance of his constituents upon this very question [Loud cheers]. On all these things he is everything that can be desired.

Stirring speeches were made by one delegate after another, and we shall endeavor to find room for a portion of these speeches. Messrs. John P. Hale, Dorsheimer and John A. King of N. Y., Collamer of Vt., Hoadley of Ohio, Kent of Maine, Wilson of Mass., and others, spoke.

DAVID WILMOT of Pennsylvania asked why, in the name of God and Justice, could they not carry Pennsylvania? Was not blood shed here too in our Revolution? Was Pennsylvania so low that politicians could drag her down? [No! no!] Were their population deficient in patriotism? [No! no!] Let us go to them and make an appeal to them. To go with the banner of our principles to the people of the State was to carry the State. Had Philadelphia forgotten that Franklin lived and died among them?—Friends! let us carry Pennsylvania! ["We will! we will!"]

Mr. WILLIAMS of Pennsylvania asked if they could stand silent under such stirring invocations as they heard within the last two hours?—[No! no!] Their ancestors had proved themselves worthy of the occasion when they met in Indepen dence Hall. Should their descendants be found able to meet this great issue? [Yes! Yes!] Would they be true to their history? [Yes! yes!] They came here with a platform which would dwarf the present statesmen of America. Under the light of that platform they could march to victory with any man. Their cause was indestructible as humanity itself. It could not die. They would carry this banner through storm and sunshine. If it went down it should not go down in dishonor. He thought, however, they could plant it on the top of the Alleghanies with a majority of at least 10,000.—[Loud applause].

Mr. Blakely of Ky. came as an earnest that Kentucky, before another four years come round, should be fully admitted as a member of the Republican family of States. Under the lead of Cassius M. Clay [enthusiastic applause] Kentucky had given a larger Free Soil vote than any other State.

Mr. Wilmot moved to reconsider the resolution directing the National Committee to call a Young Men's Convention in New York in September, for the purpose of substituting Harrisburg, Pa. Carried, and the desired alteration was made.

Judge HOAR of Massachusetts called up the resolution to hold the next National Convention at Cleveland, and moved its reference to the Executive Committee. He thought the committee should name the place. It successful in the election, they might hold their next Convention in Kentucky or Virginia. Massachusetts desired to advance the column to the South, holding their party to be a national party. The Democrats had called their next National Convention at South Carolina, and if they persevered in their present policy, they would never dare to show themselves north of that State. The resolution was referred.

Judge HOADLEY of Ohio then proposed the usual resolutions of thanks to the officers of the meeting, the Committee of Arrangements, the citizens of Philadelphia, and the reporters and members of the Press, and then, led off by the Chair, the convention gave nine hearty cheers for the ticket and adjourned sine die.

DIED,

At Summit, Waukesha County, on the 16th inst., Miss ELIZABETH CORNING JESSUP, aged 18 years.

Were evidence admissible to prove how much the Christian's faith will add to the ability to bear with patience the most intense and long-continued pain, the subject of the above notice would afford the most striking proof. She had been for three years previous to her death a constant subject of the severest suffering.

During her sickness she made a public profession of her faith in Christ by uniting with the Presbyterian Church in Summit, and uniformly manifested "the meek and quiet spirit" of the Christian. She never complained that her sufferings, however intense, were too great.—"Not my will, but thine be done," was characteristic of her submission, during the last years of her life. Com.

In this city on the 23d inst., LOTTIE L, infant child of NICHOLAS and RUTH A. LEMBKEY.

Funeral will be attended from No. 462 Jackson Street this morning at 10 o'clock. Friends of the family are invited to attend.

THE DAILY SENTINEL.

CITY MATTERS.

POLICE COURT, JUNE 23.

BEFORE CLINTON WALWORTH, POLICE JUSTICE.

James Lavin, firing off fire crackers in street, fined $5 and costs. John H. Bolton, drunk and disorderly, fined $3. Mary J. Wilson, do, do, fined $3. Henry Garland, drunk and disorderly, fined $3 and costs. George Bevanyer, an old offender, paid $10 for being drunk and disorderly. John Pepe, drunk, fined $1. Thomas Savage, charged with assault and battery upon John Colleppy, was found not guilty and discharged.

SECOND.—A Norwegian named James Jamieson was arrested by Policeman Hauck for this offence. The defendant was held for trial, and in default of the bail of $1,000 was sent to jail.

OBTAINING CLOTHING UNDER FALSE PRETENCES.—A warrant was issued against Victor N. Cleveland, charging him with having, by means of fraudulent representations, obtained from Phillip H. Hoffman, thirty eight dollars worth of clothing. The defendant was in custody, and the examination set down for this morning.

The Fourth of July.

MESSRS. JACKSON HADLEY, Chairman, and DIGBY COLLINS, Secretary, of the Fourth of July Committee, publish a card in yesterday's American, relinquishing, in behalf of the Committee, the intention of "proceeding further with their trust." We cannot possibly make room for their half column of reasons. The main one is the "probable absence of our militury companies from the city on that occasion." This a little unexpected, since the call for the celebration was made at first by the officers of the companies.

But, however this be, the Committee take occasion to add, as another reason, the "aspersions which their conduct has elicited in certain quarters," and proceed to defend themselves from the imputations referred to. Having had no share in these last,—unless the remark made by us in reply to the News' slander of that large class of our citizens not represented in the programme, as being "drunkards, tavern keepers, and rowdies," be called such an imputation,—we need only say that if the Military Companies are to be absent, there would probably be a slim show in the way of a procession. A different and more liberal course on the part of the Committee, and particularly of its organ during the preliminary organization, might have brought about a different result.

FOR COLLINGWOOD.—The Keystone State, Capt. Richards, leaves to-morrow morning.

If you ask us how to go it,
How to reach the coolest weather,
Weather cool enough, in conscience,
And the brook trout, and the white fish,
Take the Keystone, Captain Richards,
And JEROME will sell you tickets).

ARRESTED FOR BIGAMY.—A man named Knapp and a woman named ——were arrested in Chicago yesterday, by Policeman Smith; having two wives was the man's crime, and the woman's was for running away with a man who had a wife. They were put in the Watch House last night, previous to examination.

WELCOME RAIN.—On Sunday afternoon, our city was visited by one of the heaviest rain storms that we have witnessed in a long time. The dry earth drank in the welcome moisture greedily, and the whole face of nature is refreshed and brightened by its health-giving influence.

NAILS.—What amount of nails all of our dealers have received this season may be, we don't know, but it is a noteworthy fact that one firm, NAZRO & Co., have thus far rolled into store over 3000 kegs.

RAILROAD IRON.—The schooner Fox arrived yesterday from Buffalo with 300 tons Railroad iron, and the schooner Fred Hill with 70 tons do., for the Milwaukee & Mississippi R. R. Co., to be laid on the extension west of Mazo-Manie.

GREAT BARGAINS in a Lot and House in the business part of Chestnut street, Second Ward. I have for sale a lot twenty-five feet front, being the east half of lot 16 block forty-three, (43) Second Ward. Said lot is 150 feet deep, being the third lot above 5th, on Chestnut street. On it is a house and other improvements, as follows: A two story framed house, with three rooms, well finished, a good well, also, in rear, a good shop, and a good barn, with an alley in rear. The property is worth a great deal of money—much more than the owner asks for it. I will sell it at a great bargain. To any one who wishes to purchase a business lot in the Second Ward, I can safely say, here is a great chance.

The price of the whole property is $1,600, cash, and also the terms. The owner has got to sell it, and will make some one a great bargain, on very easy terms.

Je21 CALEB WALL, Agent.

CITY LAND OFFICE.

THE SECOND SALE OF LOTS in Marray's addition, First Ward, takes place at my store on Jefferson street, on Tuesday, the 24th inst., at 10 o'clock, other opportunity to obtain some of those valuable lots, at a very low price. There has been thirty-two lots sold, most of which will be improved soon, then the lots will sell for double what they are now selling for. This is always the case in all of our additions, and always will be. And again, the new City Park is expected to be completed in the course of time, and the lots there will be sold for four times what they are now selling for. These are all facts and worth your serious consideration. Every person should avail themselves of the next sale and get a lot.

The terms are exceedingly easy, only one-fifth cash, balance 1, 2, 3 and 4 years with 7 per cent interest. Upon each lot, at the prices the lots sell, it seems to me everybody ought to secure a home.

Before the day of sale the lots can be purchased at private sale. Je21 CALEB WALL

CITY LAND OFFICE.

Large and Extensive Sale of 100 LOTS in Walker's Point Southern Addition takes place July 11th, at 10 o'clock, at my store.

The said addition being that valuable tract of land formerly belonging to Doctor Harriman. The said land is handsomely situated, front, in a view of the city. The soil is very rich. The said tract of land has been laid out into city lots, of a good size. Here another opportunity offers to all who wish to secure themselves a home, to obtain lots at a very low price, on very easy terms. Many of the property yet been offered in Fifth Ward at Public Auction. The demand for it at private sale has been so great, and Walker's farm, and lots continue to rise, which is one of the main reasons why the said tract of land has been laid off into city lots, so that our laboring classes and all of our mechanics can have a chance to get a home at a reasonable price. All will agree with me that there is more beautiful building lots in 5th Ward, and better soil for gardens, &c., than any other Ward in the city, and such is the situation of the lots in Walker's Point Southern addition. Let all who want homes in the 5th Ward go and examine them. The terms of sale are ¼ cash, balance in 1, 2, 3 and 4 years 7 per cent.

PATENT SHINGLE MILL

EVARTS & BUTLER,
PROPRIETORS & MANUFACTURERS,
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS.

THE SMOOTHNESS OF THE WORK WHICH GIVES this Mill its superiority, is produced by making the cut in the direction of the fibre of the wood.
The ease with which wood is worked in that direction gives it speed of execution; and the flexibility of the shingle width-wise relieves the saw, so that it may be ground thin on its edge, so as to cut away but little of the wood.
The shingles now made with this mill sell in this market seventy-five cents per thousand higher than any other sawed shingles.
This mill is made entirely of iron—strong, simple and of the best workmanship, easily worked, and not liable to get out of order.

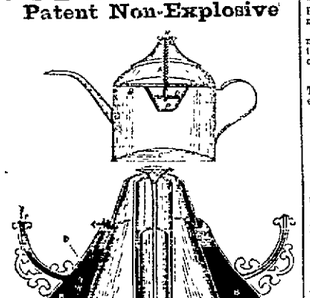
Patent Non-Explosive



CAMPHENE LAMP AND CAN.
IN OFFERING TO THE PUBLIC the admirable and long needed improvement in burning Camphene, we feel confident that the many advantages to be obtained in the use of these Lamps and Cans in preference to the common Flint Lamps and Cans now in use, a great saving in economy, as well as the perfect safety that Camphene yields the clearest and most brill ant light of any known substance—and the only obstacle to its universal adoption has hitherto been its explosive tendency, which this improvement most happily removes.
The Lamps are suitable for Churches, Public Halls, Stores, Parlors, and ordinary family use.
